

PURATATTVA NO. 16 (1985-86)

CONTENTS	Page
Editorial	(v)
Obituary D.P. Singhal, G.R. Sharma and K.C. Varma	(vii)
ARTICLES
Microlithic Industry at Damdama J.N. Pal	1
Pal reports microliths, animal bones, bone objects, burned clay lumps, querns, mullers and hammer stone-cum-anvils from Damdama
Lady of Beasts Subhangana Atre	7
Atre discusses the representation of the mother Goddess on Harappan seal motifs
Indus Civilization: Echoes in Later Literature Y.B. Singh	15
Singh traces conjunctions of Harappan cities and Saiva folk traditions in literature
Recent Exploration in the Valley of Kheri and Mansi Rivers B.R. Meena	17
Meena attempts a detailed examination of Chalcolithic site in Ajmer, Bhilwara and Udaipur districts of Rajasthan
Dots, Cup-Marks and Pits vis-à-vis the Megaliths-New Evidences from Kumaon Maheshwar P. Joshi	25
Joshi discusses on a variety of dots, cup-marks and pits and ethno-archaeological traditions from Pithoragarh, Almora and Nainital districts of Uttaranchal
Excavations at Manjhi: A Preliminary Report T.N. Roy	29
Roy reports on Black Slipped Ware and NBPW from four periods as revealed from excavations at Manjhi in Bihar
Archaeological Findings from Durvasa B.C. Shukla	33
Shukla lists architectural remains, sculptures and ceramics from Durvasa in Ganga valley belonging to the Maurya-Gupta periods
A Mahaparinirvana: Panel in the National Museum Shashi Asthana	35
Asthana analyses the Mahaparinirvan panel belonging to the Mathura school

Location of Pava K.D. Bajpai	39
Bajpai discusses the cultural significance of the site, mentioned in Mahabharata as well as in the Jaina and Buddhist texts
‘Copper Hoard’ Implements in the National Museum Collection: 1986 S.P. Gupta	45
Gupta gives a brief history on the acquisition of Copper Hoard artefacts in National Museum
Notes on Sculptures in the Early Art of Central India Sudha Malaiya	47
Malaiya looks into Natesa sculptures from Central India with reference to Natyasastra and Silpasastra texts
Kamesvara Temple at Gallavalli M. Krishna Kumari	55
Kumari attempts an architectural and iconographical study of the temple built under the Eastern Gangas
Bronze Age Culture of Thailand Mahesh Prasad Madhukar	59
Madhukar discusses the Bronze Age cultures of Thailand from Non NokTha and Ban Chieng, two sites located on the rolling low lands
Ethno-archaeological Survey on Ceramic Production Valentine Roux	63
Roux considers possibility of calculating rate of ceramic production based on ethnoarchaeology
The Preindustrial Mines of India Dilip K. Chakrabarti	65
Chakrabarti points out the comprehensive scope for investigations in the history and methods of pre-industrial mining
Some Fresh Evidence from Sanghol Excavations: 1986 C. Margabandhu and G.S. Gaur	73
Margabandhu and Gaur report evidence of Chalcolithic settlements as well as township including sculptures, pillars and cross-bars of the Kushana period
Ayodhya of the Valmiki Ramayana: An Energizing Debate on its Identification B.B. Lal	79
Lal contests the claim of M.C. Joshi that Ayodhya was located on Ganga basin and seeks to establish that it was on the banks of Sarayu
NOTES & NEWS
A New Gupta Inscription from Kausambi B.C. Shukla	85
Coins and Small Finds of Indian Origin in Ai-Khanum O. Guillaume	87

Three Saucer-type Coins from Varanasi Haldhar Pathak	89
BOOK REVIEWS
J.N. Pal, Archaeology of Southern Uttar Pradesh (Ceramic Industries of North Vindhya) D.P. Agrawal	91
K.M. Varma, Amaravati and the Beginning of Stucco Modelling in India M.C. Joshi	91
Amarendra Nath, Buddhist Images and Narratives S.P. Gupta	92
D.K. Chakrabarti and S.J. Hasan, The Antiquities of Kangra Y. Krishan	93
Gregory L. Possehl, Kulli S.P. Gupta	94
A.K. Singh, Trans-Himalayan Wall Paintings S.P. Gupta	95
Appendix I	97